

1711 Walk

LONDON'S FIRST POP-UP BAROQUE CHURCH CRAWL

St Alfege, Greenwich. Aquatint etching reproduced by kind permission of Andrew Ingamells.

1711 Walk is London's first Pop-Up Baroque Church Crawl: a 15½ mile walking route linking 12 of London's finest Baroque churches (or, one case, its ruins).

On Tuesday 12th June 1711, Queen Anne gave royal assent to an Act for Building Fifty New Churches.

In the event, the various Commissions for Building Fifty New Churches built only 12. These are the churches linked by 1711 Walk: Christ Church Spitalfields, St Alfege Greenwich, St Anne Limehouse, St George Bloomsbury, St George in the East, St George Hanover Square, St John Horsleydown (Southwark), St John Smith Square, St Luke Old Street, St Mary le Strand, St Mary Woolnoth and St Paul Deptford.

In recognition of the tercentenary of the Act and to coincide with the launch of 1711 Walk, the National Churches Trust has created a ring-fenced, restricted fund called the National Churches Trust 1711 Fund from which it will be able to make grants to support the preservation and restoration of the 9 Queen Anne Churches which are still in use as places of worship

THE 1711 WALK GUIDE

The 1711 Walk route will be set out in a 16 page A5 Guide. This will be published in mid-May as a numbered limited edition of 500 copies. To cover costs, it will be priced at £2.75 (plus p&p). Any profits will go to the National Churches Trust 1711 Fund.

On Sunday 12th June 2011, modern Londoners will be able to mark the exact 300th anniversary of the Act by using the Guide to follow the 1711 Walk route from Greenwich to Westminster. For further details, visit www.1711walk.org.

To order your copy of the Guide, complete and return the form below or visit www.1711walk.org.
